In 2020, Youth Capital launched an Action Plan to tackle youth unemployment. Grounded in young people’s lived experiences, the Action Plan connects young people’s realities of the journey from school to work with data, research, and policies to form a shared strategy to shift the needle on youth unemployment.

The Action Plan prioritises areas of intervention where individuals and organisations can work together to improve employment outcomes for young people: supporting them in completing their educational journey, supporting them in their journey from education into the labour market, and ensuring that existing employment initiatives and opportunities provide stepping stones to sustainable livelihoods.
